v. Counting Ballots: The counting of the ballots shall take place according to the following:

- a. Each candidate may designate an agent to act as her scrutineer during the counting of the ballots;

- f. Failure to select a preference in any round of voting shall result in that ballot being spoiled for that and all subsequent rounds of balloting. A ballot shall not be deemed spoiled so long as the voter's intentions can be reasonably ascertained from the ballot;
- g. If more than one person is to be elected the voters can indicate their order of preference among the names just as if only one was to be elected. The counting procedure is the same as described above, except that it is continued until all but the necessary number of candidates has been eliminated.
