

WOMEN'S ISSUES NETWORK COMMITTEE

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Women's Issues Network (WIN) educates Western University's campus on issues of gender equality and gender diversity by providing comprehensive and diverse educational programming through events, speaker series, conferences, and collaborative initiatives with various on-campus groups and community partners. WIN seeks to engage and empower individuals on Western's campus to take action against gender inequality in our communities.

WIN organizes programming around dates such as International Women's Day, where a variety of speaker events are scheduled, along with a conference to celebrate women leaders in the Western community, and to discuss current feminist issues. Throughout the year, WIN can be found holding booths in the UCC that intend to educate passing students of topical issues on campus, or provide information about how to contact or volunteer with local London organizations such as ANOVA, and Sexual Assault Centre London. In line with the University Students' Council's mission statement, WIN enhances the educational experience and quality of life for all undergraduate students at Western University by creating gender based programming FOR students, and BY students. By working collaboratively with various western clubs, faculty councils, faculties, and USC coordinators, WIN creates interactive, educational, accessible, and enjoyable programming for all students to utilize and draw from for years to come.
